For the sixth time, Deutsche Bahn gives an insight into investments to strengthen the railways. Since the last publication, Deutsche Bahn has had a lot of tailwind from politics and society. The climate debate, as well as the experiences of the Corona months, have clearly shown: Germany needs the railways! Environmental and climate protection, sustainable mobility - it doesn't work without rail. Politicians have paved the way for strengthening the railways in Germany: with comprehensive investment programs, with the modernization of planning law for an accelerated implementation of investments, with new concepts such as the "Deutschlandtakt". With the participation of the entire rail industry in the "Rail Alliance for the Future", a "master plan" for rail traffic was created. The DB Group has realigned its corporate strategy to the "Strong Rail Germany". Together we have the goal of getting more traffic onto the rails. This book shows how DB Netz, construction companies and planners work together as partners in the Rail System to achieve this goal.
